Dedication

Teaching

As a teacher, Mr. Larry Frownfelter is dedicated to the profession which he chose. He can always be found trying to make sure that the students receive the best education possible.

Advising

As an advisor, he is always ready to help the students with their extra-curricular activities to assure that their events are a success.

Coaching

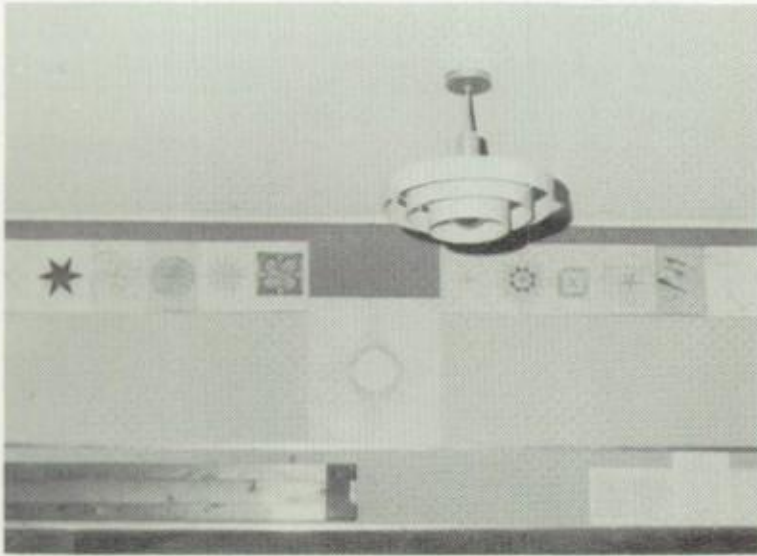

As a coach, he is a firm believer in rough 'n' tough physical fitness and tries to obtain the best from the boys in their athletic endeavors.

Assisting

As a teacher, he is always ready and willing to assist any student with any problem which he may have whether that problem be personal or regarding school.

Under These Roofs

UNDER THESE ROOFS

Under these roofs we have made
our lives a reality.

We have begun to understand what it takes to make a man.
Being able to accept a loss as well as the sweat and tears
that are shed to make a victory.

Our minds are our own, no more can we be dependent upon others.

Through maturity we will find our place in life and be happy there.

For it is through our own doing,
whether be it success or failure.

We shall all remember the good times and the bad times as well,

For they will always be a part of us.

The memory of our friendships
will forever be dear to us.

Though rebellious in our ways,
we realize what we must do. . .
and it will be done.

and Linda Simpson

Administration and Faculty

Administration

School Board

Today's school board and its members find themselves faced with far more difficult tasks than those met by their predecessors fifty years ago. Student population increases, finances, new buildings and upkeep, staff changes and community relations are all things that keep our board busy.

Superintendent

Mr. George C. Goodman, Superintendent of Lyle Schools, is undoubtedly the most indispensable administrator of our district. He has worked diligently to plan a curriculum which fits the needs and desires of every student from college preparatory to vocational training, and which will enable them to achieve a quality education and to develop themselves to become responsible citizens.

Secretary and Principal

School secretary Suma Bullock, performs many duties and services in her job, not only to the faculty, students, and board, but to the administration as well. Mr. Mark Callender, High School principal, checks over daily attendance procedures with Suma. Mr. Callender is kept busy with counseling, testing, and advisement to students and faculty.

Faculty

MRS. PFLUGRATH: Typing, Shorthand I and II, General Business, Personal Typing, Speech, Journalism, Girls' League Adviser, Annual Adviser, and Pep Club Adviser. MRS. TITUS: French I and II and Chorus Pianist. MISS DEMERS: Adv. Home Ec., Boy's Home Ec., Home Ec. I, Art, P.E., Jr. High Home Ec., Volleyball and Softball Coach, GAA and Sophomore Class Adviser.

MR. TITUS: World Problems, U.S. History, World History, Boy's P.E., Jr. High P.E., Head Football, Basketball, and Track Coach and Cougar Club adviser. MR. FROWNFELTER: English I, II, III, IV, and Latin I. Head Baseball Coach, Assistant Football and Basketball Coach and Senior Class Adviser.

MR. PETERSEN: General Math. MR. SAMS: Adv. Biology, Biology I, Chemistry, Physics, Earth Science, Junior Class Adviser. MR. STINE: Algebra I and II, Washington History and Geography, Geometry, and Business Law.

MR. NELSON: Mechanical Drawing, Advanced Wood Shop, Wood Shop I, Metal Shop, Jr. High Shop, Washington History and Geography and Freshman Class Adviser. MR. STORMO: Chorus, Band, and Library, Elementary and Junior High music.

Custodians and Cooks

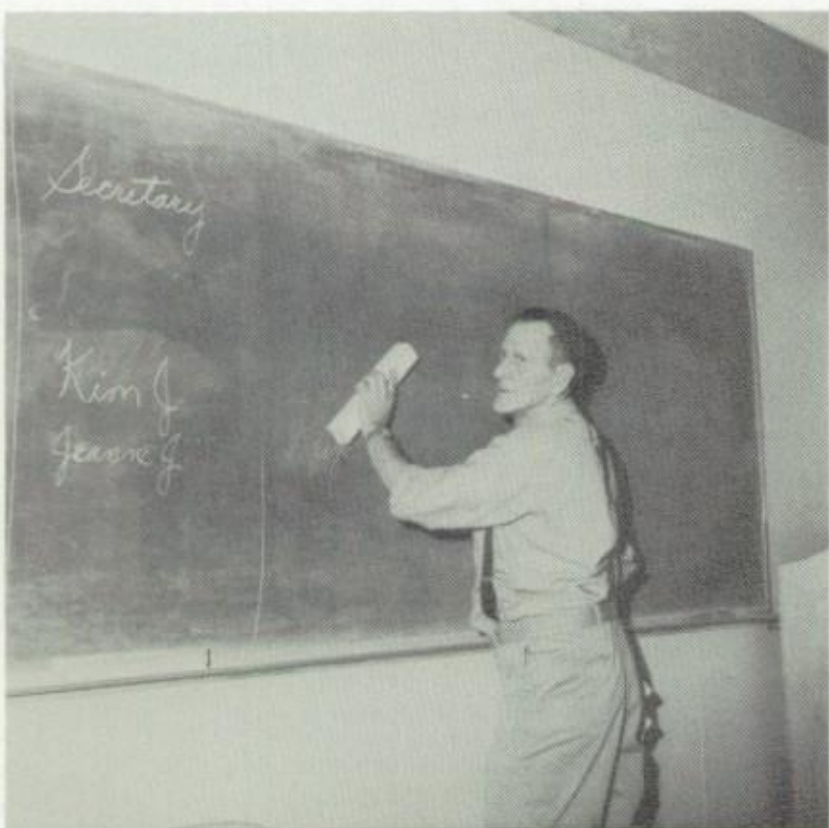

Maintenance, Bill White

The maintenance man, Bill White, does everything from soup to nuts. He repairs anything that is broken, keeps the school in comfortable order, he keeps the school surroundings looking nice, and still finds time to raise and lower the American Flag as well as driving bus.

Cooks, Clara and Vivian

School cooks, Clara Hunter and Vivian Rinke can usually be seen in the cafeteria preparing some new and unusual dish for the students of Lyle High.

Custodian, Fred Hickman

Night custodian, Fred Hickman, is the man responsible for the clean blackboards, clean and polished floors and room, and the general neat appearance in which the students find the school every morning.

Classes

Seniors

Mr. Frownfelter, Adviser, and Jeni discuss the agenda for the coming meeting.

When in the course of human events, we the great Senior Class of 1967, at long last prepare to make our final departure from Lyle High School, a sense of duty and pride compels us to enumerate our many noteworthy achievements.

We somehow managed to thwart Mr. Titus, and Mr. Frownfelter by passing most of their tests.

Some of us ranked high on the honor roll; Senior names also headed the list of students with messy lockers.

We maintained our superiority as mighty Seniors, by bullying the Juniors and Sophomores, and contributing to the emotional unbalance of the Freshmen.

We participated actively in all school activities; the Senior boys were instrumental in bringing about our excellent athletic record, and the rest of the class provided pep and enthusiasm.

As we leave these sacred halls of learning, forever free from the terrors of tests and book reports, we highly resolve that the patient, untiring efforts of our Senior adviser and teachers shall not have been in vain, that our wonderful years in high school shall not be forgotten, and that the class of 1967, shall do its part in making a better world for everyone.

Juniors

Mr. Sams, Adviser, and Jim Akita, President, discuss coming events over a game of chess.

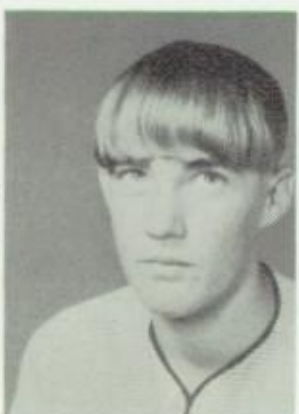

Through this vale of tears, the Junior Class has trod undaunted, to reach the lofty heights of lower upper-classmen. The students who finally reached this pinnacle were very worthy of the pride and acclaim that go with this enviable position.

The members of the Junior Class have shown their ability, and outstanding leadership in many clubs and activities that they were a part of this year.

The Junior Class exemplified the qualities of determination, and enthusiasm in all the projects they undertook.

They held their beautiful Junior-Senior Prom in April, which turned out to be very successful, thanks to the efforts of the Juniors, and Adviser, Mr. Sams, and the efforts of the capable and willing committees chosen.

Although our extra-curricular life was very rewarding, our studies still remained the center of our interest and attention.

Sophomores

Gayle Weaver, President and Miss DeMers, Adviser plan money making projects for the coming year.

When one takes a composite view of the students at LHS, one class has to stand out for some reason or another, and it is generally agreed the Sophomores, if for no other reason, stand out in numbers, as they chalk up more members than any other class in the school.

Some of the members of the Sophomore Class have demonstrated their abilities scholastically, other members have demonstrated their abilities athletically, still others have demonstrated their abilities not only scholastically and athletically, but as followers and leaders, and finally there are a few who just demonstrated.

But, as a whole, the Sophomores show great potential, under the guidance of their Adviser, Miss DeMers, and their class officers for this year, Gayle Weaver, President; Suzi Smith, Vice-President; Rick Knowles, Secretary; Mike Toda, Treasurer.

Financially, the Sophomores are on their way, having had such money-making projects as concessions at football games, and the Pancake Feed. And, one thing is sure to be, that as one enters the mighty portals of LHS, the Sophomores are a constant reminder that it is forever onward without tradition for the school, the students, and all of the activities of Cougar Country.

The Freshman of today is indeed, a remarkable organism. Brutally, he is thrown, unwarned, out into a sea of harsh reality. He is engaged in a den of Sophomores, Juniors, and Seniors where he must make his way alone.

Somehow, the Freshmen have survived the abhorring glances of the Seniors, and have surrendered to the rule of the faculty. Through all of this, however, they have maintained one very important thing--their individuality. In a world inhibited by social statuses, the Freshmen stand as a promising group of people who are always ready with a new idea.

The adviser of the Freshman Class was Mr. Nelson, and the class officers were: Ray Akita, President; Marlee Toda, Vice-President; Kay Hylton, Secretary; Leslie Williams, Treasurer.

It is hard to sum up the attributes, or faults of a large group of people. But, looking at the whole, the Freshmen seem to be going places, and this year of 1966-67, at Lyle High School, has given everyone a good start.

Boys' State and Girls' State

Terry Toda and Sharon Sorensen represented L. H. S. at Boy's State and Girl's State which were held at Gonzaga University in Spokane and CWSC in Ellensburg. They were sponsored by the Harry Smith Post 140 and its Auxiliary.

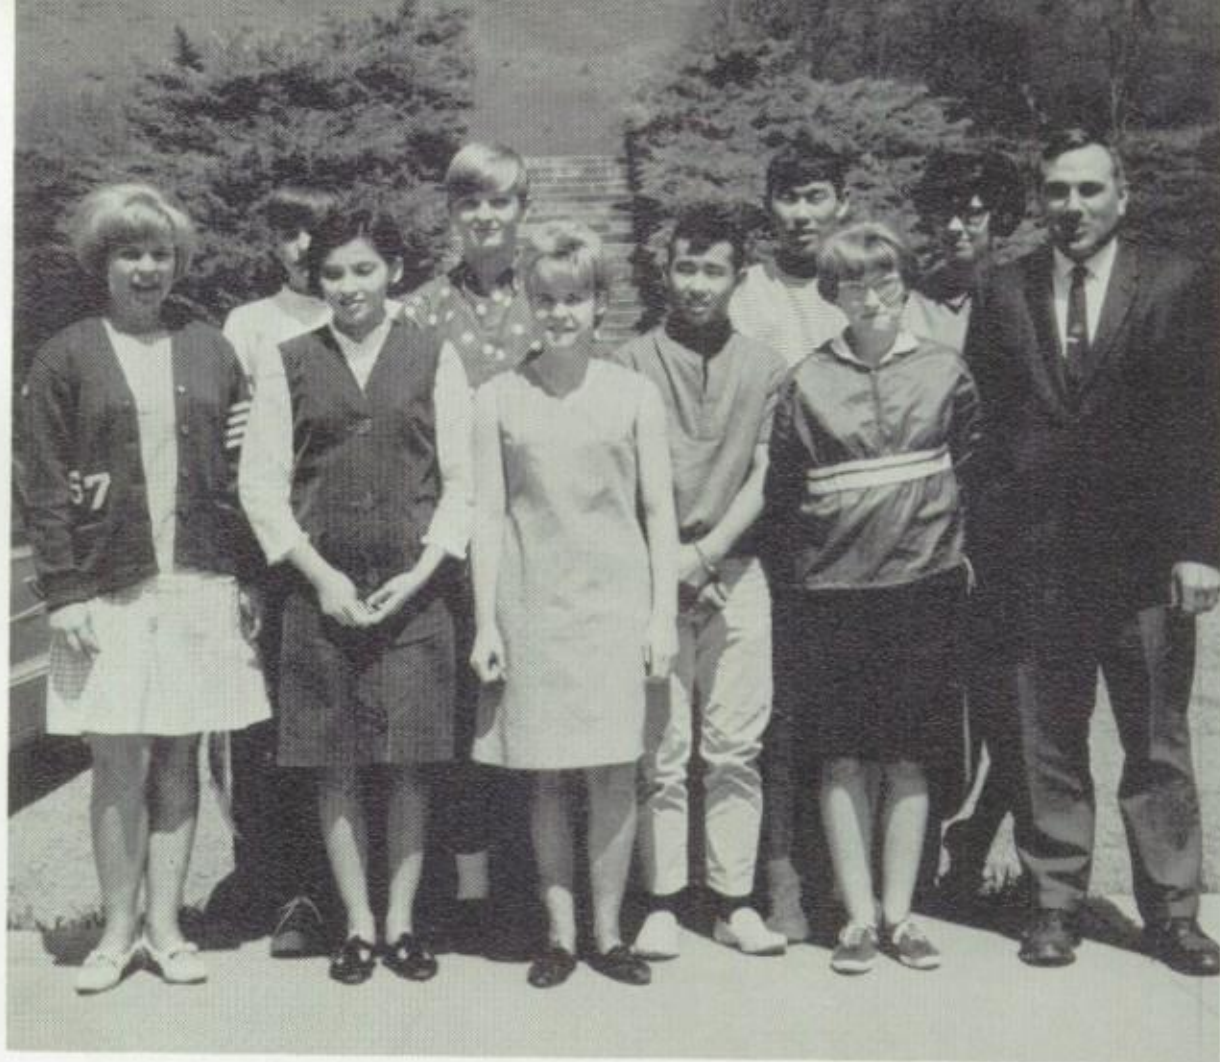

At these conventions, Terry and Sharon had the opportunity to learn about and participate in the workings of our state and local governments. They brought back a wealth of information to use in making our student government operate more effectively.

The National Honor Society members are chosen on their qualifications of leadership, service, scholarship, and on character.

This year's group was an active one under the leadership of Pres., Betty Rhoads; Vice-Pres., Gerry Migaki; and Sec.-Treas., Bev Bullock. The main project this year was a trip to Portland to visit the colleges of the area.

Big sisters treat the little sisters to a game of "Wink'em" at the Big and Little Sister Party.

1966-1967 was a busy year for the Lyle Girls League. The group sold pickles during noon and also had a large bake sale at Christmas. They gave a Thanksgiving basket as a service project to a needy family in the community.

But, it wasn't all work for the girls and their adviser Mrs. Pflugrath. The big and little sister party, the annual Beatnik Ball, and the Mothers' Tea provided fun and entertainment for everyone.

The Cougar Club is an organization composed of boys who have lettered in sports at L. H. S.

Each year the boys put on the very successful Letterman's Spaghetti Feed and this year was no exception. The Cougar Club, when not busy earning trophies for the school, vote for "Mr. Hustle" and decide team captains. The Lettermen usually keep the new initiates busy doing everything from fixing the Lyle sign to re-painting Cougar tracks.
